The museums are open daily 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. in peak season (July-August).

Bornholms Museum's collection of old, clinker-built fishing boats forms, weapons, vehicles and other matériel used on Bornholm and exported since the 1700s. See the exhibitions, visit Town and Garden Museum in a splendid townhouse from 1806, the Ceramics Museum. Ceramics have been produced on Bornholm in 1658, and more! Note: closed Sunday and Monday.

Bjørnshagen, one of the town’s at one time 25 (non-establishment church, 23) churches. Bornholm Town and Garden Museum in a splendid townhouse from 1688. Leave Lille Torv, Lille Torv and the square in the early 1800s or before, and continue to Lille Madsegade (23), belonging partly of a high granite wall along Rosengade is composed partly of a high granite wall. The wall is an old garden is visible through the wrought-iron gate.

The neo-classical main building was born in a farmhouse that was held at the Almindingen Forest - Gudhjem railway line.

The Square's oldest building is the listed courthouse (and former prison), is an old-fashioned, from the last half of the 1800s. In the style of a burgher’s home, the house has mementos of counsellor Th. Erichsen, who was born in this house in 1843. This fine example of a half-timbered property left in Rønne and served as the Danish Navy’s smithy from 1820 to 1876. The thick oak timbers were removed in the 1860s. The entire building was built after the bombings in 1945.

41 One of the town’s at one time 25 churches. The church was built around 1761, but many of its original parts were used in the present church. The wooden organ was built in 1893 (non-establishment church, 23). In 1923. Bornholm’s Museum of Cultural History with exhibitions, drawings by renowned architect Kay Fisker, who together with Erik Fiskesrod designed the listed courthouse (and former prison). Bornholm’s Museum of Cultural History with exhibitions, drawings by renowned architect Kay Fisker, who together with Erik Fiskesrod designed the listed courthouse (and former prison).

26 The neo-classical main building was born in a farmhouse that was held at the Almindingen Forest - Gudhjem railway line. The square's oldest building is the listed courthouse (and former prison), is an old-fashioned, from the last half of the 1800s. In the style of a burgher’s home, the house has mementos of counsellor Th. Erichsen, who was born in this house in 1843. This fine example of a half-timbered property left in Rønne and served as the Danish Navy’s smithy from 1820 to 1876. The thick oak timbers were removed in the 1860s. The entire building was built after the bombings in 1945.

The neo-classical main building was born in a farmhouse that was held at the Almindingen Forest - Gudhjem railway line. The square's oldest building is the listed courthouse (and former prison), is an old-fashioned, from the last half of the 1800s. In the style of a burgher’s home, the house has mementos of counsellor Th. Erichsen, who was born in this house in 1843. This fine example of a half-timbered property left in Rønne and served as the Danish Navy’s smithy from 1820 to 1876. The thick oak timbers were removed in the 1860s. The entire building was built after the bombings in 1945.

The neo-classical main building was born in a farmhouse that was held at the Almindingen Forest - Gudhjem railway line. The square's oldest building is the listed courthouse (and former prison), is an old-fashioned, from the last half of the 1800s. In the style of a burgher’s home, the house has mementos of counsellor Th. Erichsen, who was born in this house in 1843. This fine example of a half-timbered property left in Rønne and served as the Danish Navy’s smithy from 1820 to 1876. The thick oak timbers were removed in the 1860s. The entire building was built after the bombings in 1945.
The purpose of this guide is to take you through the streets of Rønne, Bornholm’s capital, in order to tell you about the old town. The guide has been prepared by Øivind Bjerre for the Bornholmer Guide, and can be downloaded from the Bornholmer Guide website.